

Contents

|     |                                                                                                                          |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 7   | Preface                                                                                                           |
| 11  | List of Figures and Plates                                                                                               |
| 13  | Abbreviations                                                                                                            |
| 15  | Introduction: Gerard Isaac LiefstinckJ.P. Gumbert                                                             |
| 21  | Glossaries and Other Innovations in Carolingian Book ProductionRosamond McKitterick                           |
| 79  | Biting, Kissing and the Treatment of Feet:The Transitional Script of the Long Twelfth CenturyErik Kwakkel |
| 127 | The Place of Germany in the Twelfth-Century Renaissance: Books, Scriptoria and LibrariesRodney Thomson        |
| 145 | Bibliography                                                                                                             |
| 165 | Notes on the Authors                                                                                                     |
| 169 | Colour Plates                                                                                                            |
| 206 | Graphs                                                                                                                   |
| 209 | Index of Manuscripts                                                                                                     |
| 219 | General Index                                                                                                            |